

Do you want or need to discern something?

Join with others from across the Oregon Synod this June to explore practices of discernment in solitude and community. We'll meet on Zoom from 6:30-8 pm (Pacific Time) for four Tuesday evenings: June 7, 14, 21, and 28. We'll be invited to orient ourselves internally with our belovedness and enter into discernment and community dialogue from that place asking the questions: How do we listen to our own voice? What do we find trustworthy in the external world? To what do we attribute authority and wisdom? Where is God in all of this? What are signs of healthy discernment? And how might we support that for one another in community and congregations? Please register on the Oregon Synod's website.
