Weather Watch

As we anticipate some cold weather over the weekend, even the professional weather people (meteorologists) are in doubt how much snow and ice we may see between Portland and Albany. The general consensus is it will get cold late Friday and stay below freezing for the next several days. The Salem/Keizer area could see anywhere between 2 and 10 inches of snow.

If necessary, a decision on cancelling the Sunday worship service at CGS will be made late Saturday/early Sunday and notifications sent out via email. Please check your inbox before leaving for church on Sunday morning. As always, use your judgement on travelling. If you do not think you can get safely to CGS on State Street, please DO NOT try and come. Stay home and stay safe. If our tech team can get safely to CGS, we plan on streaming the service on the CGS YouTube channel and/or posting the worship videos on the HC YouTube channel for viewing later.

Bottom Line Be Safe, follow the weather reports and watch your email for updates. Hopefully this weekend's inclement weather will be less harsh than anticipated and Sunday will go forward unchanged.

Stay Tuned—To be determined.
